Rich Polivka

Mr. Abbott:

As discussed in our telephone conversations, I am seeking permission to offer copies of various TI-99/4A manuals and documentation for upload from my 99/4A website at http://99er.interspeed.net/ . I have a large collection of 4A equipment/cartridge manuals, 4A Club Newsletters, and other 4A literature that I would like to scan in, convert to Adobe Acrobat PDF format, and then make available for others to download from the site. My website is non-profit (negative profit!), and I am only looking to archive and share (free of charge) these somewhat rare and out of print documents. There are still hundreds (thousands?) of TI-99/4A users in the world, and I am contacted daily by people who have just acquired a 4A at a garage sale or thrift store and are looking for information on the computer. I'm sure that they would appreciate access to these items.

Please let me know what I will need to do and/or who I will need to contact in order for permission to be granted. If need be, I can be more specific about my exact plans and which items I would like to reproduce.

Thank You.
Rich Polivka

Rich Polivka
polivka@stratos.net, webmaster@99er.interspeed.net
TI-99/4A Page: http://99er.interspeed.net/
Join the TI-99/4A HCP Newsletter at: http://ti994a.listbot.com/
Visit The Open Directory TI-99/4A Category at:
http://dmoz.org/Computers/Operating_Systems/TI-99_4A/

9/27/1999

Rich Polivka

From: Abbott, Fred <fabbott@ti.com>
To: <polivka@stratos.net>
Sent: Monday, September 27, 1999 5:46 PM
Subject: Putting 99/4A info on Web Site

Rich,

I just got the word back that your putting obsolete manuals on your web site would not be a problem for us.

Fred Abbott
1-800-842-2737

TIpermission.max